

Mar de Viñas Albariño 2016 (white wine)

Adegas Gran Vinum is a second generation, family owned winery that has been producing Albariño since the 1980's, prior to the creation of the Denomination of Origin Rias Baixas. They focus exclusively on Albariño from the Val do Salnes sub-region, which offers vineyard sites with distinct maritime influence. The wines produced from both estate vineyards and vineyards they manage seek a repeatable saline undercurrent to the typical peach, apricot and floral aromas of Albariño.

Appellation	D.O. Rias Baixas
Grapes	100% Albariño
Altitude / Soil	40 meters / sandy loam and decomposed granite
Farming Methods	Traditional methods with vines trained high on stone pergolas
Harvest	By hand into small boxes for transport to the winery
Production	Static clarification followed by fermentation at low temperature for 20 days
Aging	Aged for a few months on fine lees prior to bottling
UPC / SCC	0 183277 000031 /

Reviews:

“(all stainless steel) Limpid straw-gold. Meyer lemon, green apple and honeysuckle on the tightly focused nose. Taut, refreshingly bitter citrus pith and quince flavors deepen and stretch out on the back half. Closes long and minerally, showing very good focus and lingering florality.”

90 points Vinous Media Spain's New Releases, Part 2: Triumphs and Travails May 2017

