"This is undoubtedly one of the strongest values I've tasted this year, and is quite possibly the single best red wine during 2021 I've tasted for fewer than $20. I base that not only on its sheer deliciousness for current enjoyment but also its capacity for further development... Dark cherry and blackberry fruit is in the driver's seat, with spicy backnotes and some savory accents and plenty of fine-grained tannin that is out-run by the fruit in the wine's finish. There's almost no sensory sign of oak, except for the softening effect of oxygen exchange from used barrels..."
