“[the] 2018 Garmón is pure Tempranillo from different villages with a continental climate... The wine is fresher, has a lot more acidity and is aromatic and open, with a better balance without losing structure. This is the finest wine they have produced so far... It brought me to the character of the wines from yesteryear, rustic but with elegance, full of character...with energy and aging potential... 2021- 2030”
