Bodegas y Vinedos San Roman is a family-owned winery that was founded by iconic winemaker Mariano Garcia in 1998 as Bodegas y Vinedos Maurodos. His vision was to produce world class wines which balanced freshness and longevity in the bottle against the renowned power of the region's wines. The vineyards are planted mainly with Tinta de Toro, a local clone of Tempranillo that has adapted to the local region. In general, the vines offer smaller berries and bunches than Tempranillo in other regions, and yields wines that offer deep colors, intense aromas and robust structure.

Prima, their entry level wine, has started to incorporate a higher percentage of Garnacha in the blend and is now aged partially in large wooden vats as opposed to barrels.

Reviews:

" Like everything else, this wine has crept up in price recently, but its quality also seems to rise from year to year. Based on 85% Tinta de Toro (the local strain of Tempranillo that has evolved in Toro over centuries) plus 15% Garnacha, it offers alluring scents and flavors recalling black fruits above all, but with some brighter red tones showing as well. Accents recalling tobacco leaf, cocoa powder, and very subtle vanilla are also evident, and though the wine is well structured with tannins, there is no suggestion of astringency or un-incorporated oak. To be sure, this is a wine for the table rather than a stand-alone sipper, but it is already very enjoyable with moderately robust food, and will only improve for at least another 5 to 8 years.."

"The juicy, primary and young red 2021 Prima was produced with 85% Tinta de Toro softened with 15% Garnacha and other varieties, resulting in a fresh, floral and aromatic wine that is not shy and hits the scale at 14.5% alcohol, keeping a pH of 3.6. It comes from younger vines whose grapes fermented destemmed with indigenous yeasts in stainless steel with pumping over. It matured in French oak barrels and foudres for 14 months. 160,000 bottles produced. 2024 - 2028."

"Bodegas San Román's 2021 Prima Tinto from Bodegas San Román is nicely balanced this year, coming in listed at 14.5 percent octane. The wine is crafted from its customary cépages of eighty-five percent tempranillo and fifteen percent garnacha, with the oldest vines here being half a century old. The vineyards are farmed organically and just starting to conversion to biodynamics. The wine is aged in a mix of French and American oak for two years, with twenty-five percent of the casks new. The 2021 Prima delivers a deep and complex bouquet of black plums, black cherries, a touch of spiced meats, dark soil tones, woodsmoke and a discreet framing of cedary oak. On the palate the wine is deep, young and full-bodied, with a superb core of fruit, good soil signature, ripe, chewy tannins, fine grip and a long, complex and very well balanced finish. This will be an excellent wine in due course, but it is a young Toro, so plan on at least a dozen years of hibernation for the wine before it starts to soften up enough to drink with generosity. Fine juice."
